Claims 1-6 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The prior art of record do not teach or suggest, in the claimed combination thereof, an inductance element produced from a laminate having electrical insulators and electrical conductors laminated alternately, the inductance element comprising a helical coil having a plurality of turns each constituted by four sides, wherein: two of the four sides of each turn of the coil are formed as two parallel conductor-pieces when the laminate is processed so that a plurality of slots are formed in the laminate or a plurality of grooves are formed in the laminate and bottoms of the grooves are removed; the grooves formed in the laminating direction by the processing are filled with an electrically insulating material; the other two sides of each turn of the coil are formed as two bridging conductor pieces which are formed on the electrically insulating material packed in the grooves so that end portions of the two parallel conductor pieces formed by the processing are connected to each other by the two bridging conductor pieces to thereby form the helical coil; and top, bottom and side surfaces of the element are covered with electrically insulating layers respectively while external connecting terminal electrodes are provided on portions where part of the electrically insulating layers are removed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
